Principal's Pen

Welcome to the week before Thanksgiving break! I am praying that this will truly be a safe and academically productive week before students and parents get a much needed break. I am grateful for the ongoing spiritual and academic growth of our students and am praying that the Lord will continue to bless each of them.

I continue to be thankful for the good work you have done with hand sanitizing, submitting to temperature checks, and being sensitive to keeping your child home when the child is not feeling well. In the case that a family member were to contract the COVID virus, it is important that you contact our office so that we can walk through the guidelines together in taking proper precautions for the comfort and safety of all. We will follow our COVID 10 guidelines that are on our website. With that being said, the Lord has protected us amazingly, and we are grateful.

Let's set as a goal a physically healthy and academically profitable post Thanksgiving three weeks. Together, we can do this.

Thanks to each of you who contributed sacrificially to our gift giving opportunity. We have shipped the items. Thirteen stockings were consolidated into 26 flat rate boxes and headed to the island of Chuuk. It appears that they will be there before Christmas to be a source of blessing and encouragement to needy students.

Happy Thanksgiving!

Dr. C
